

Long Hill Summer Rec Camp News Week 2

So....when we originally chose the theme, "Under the Sea" for this week's theme, never did we imagine it would be a foretelling of Mother Nature's plans for us this week with all of the rain. We've all been through a lot this week with the rain and the storms.

The campers worked on a mural of an ocean scene this week. Lucky for us, our Health Director also happens to be a marine biologist with an artistic flair.

Our campers also painted ceramic fish. We have sent off their fish to be glazed and fired in the kilns. We should have them back by the end of next week for the campers to take home. (If you won't be at camp again after they arrive back to us, we'll have them swim back with us to Town Hall to be picked up in Recreation next time you are Town Hall.)

During gym time, the campers played a lot of games with a Sea Theme: Sharks and Minnows, Tentacle Tag, Jellyfish Jump, and Puffer Fish Keep it Up. (Thank you Sami!)

On Tuesday, we welcomed back Rizzo's Reptiles. Dominic showed the kids lots of very cool reptiles and talked a lot about their habitats and traits. Many of us who prefer cute furry things, stepped back a bit but still learned a lot.

Meet Sunny, the Albino Python!

We have some very brave counselors and very brave camper, Nora!

All of our campers were given the opportunity to "pet" Sunny.

Sunny is TWELVE feet long! Dominic assured me that he took everything with him when he left.

On Wednesday, we were able to get outside on the blacktop for a bit—long enough to get all of our Sea Life

Foursquare games played. Congratulations to all of our winners!

On Thursday, our much anticipated Laser Tag took place. The field behind the school was magically each other to a game. It's still being debated who won, but we think it was Ryan, and look at his evasive moves and in the picture—no

athleticism wonder!

On Friday, we ended with our Twister Competition. We had 7 Twister mats laid out in the All Purpose Room. Many thanks to Riley and Grace for running this program today. Congratulations to all of our very agile campers who won!

We had a lot of fun at camp this week despite the rain! We want to wish Theo L. a very Happy Birthday—may all of your wishes come true. We wish everyone a very Happy 4th of July!
